General Assembly, Web Development Immersive                              San Francisco, CA | March 2016 - June 2016
Front - End & Full Stack Web Developer
  -   Built web applications individually and on a team in 1-week sprints, as well as pair-programming.
  -   Learned a variety of front-end and back-end languages and frameworks to build full-stack web applications.

Current Projects:

BayTrails   link
  -   Bay Trails is an app built using MEAN stack that allows users to discover and curate the best trails of the SF Bay Area, offering a platform to search for trails, curate a collection of favorite trails, and submit new trails not yet in the database.

PolaSnap   link
  -   PolaSnap is a photo-sharing platform built on Ruby on Rails that allows users to share, consume, and interact with photos.

Bean   link
  -   Bean (v1.0) is a coffee shop ratings app built using MEN stack, which collects user ratings for coffee shops and allows users to add coffee shops not already in the database, with the end goal of building an API for San Francisco coffee shops.
